

June 14 (Monday)

Time	Speaker	Title
10:50 – 11:00	Opening words on behalf of the Organizers
11:00 – 12:30	Sarah Winkler	Term Rewriting: Basic Concepts, Tools, and Applications 1/3
Coffee break
13:00 – 14:30	Laura Kovács	First-Order Theorem Proving and Vampire 1/3
Lunch break
15:30 – 17:00	Alexander Razborov	Proof Complexity 1/3

Format: 75 min + 15 min

This schedule uses the Moscow time zone (that is, UTC+3).

Note that Steklov Mathematical Institute will be closed on June 14 (which is a holiday in Russia), so everything will be virtual.

June 15 (Tuesday)

Time	Speaker	Title
11:00 – 12:30	Sarah Winkler	Term Rewriting: Basic Concepts, Tools, and Applications 2/3
Coffee break
13:00 – 14:30	Laura Kovács	First-Order Theorem Proving and Vampire 2/3
Lunch break
15:30 – 17:00	Alexander Razborov	Proof Complexity 2/3

Format: 75 min + 15 min

This schedule uses the Moscow time zone (that is, UTC+3).

The lectures marked in green will be non-virtual, and will take place in Conference Hall (on the 9th floor).

It should be remarked that all non-virtual lectures will be broadcasted via Zoom as well.

As for the virtual lectures, those who wish to participate in non-virtual discussions with other participants and coffee breaks will be welcome in Conference Hall (on the 9th floor) at Steklov Mathematical Institute.

June 16 (Wednesday)

Time	Speaker	Title
11:00 – 12:30	Sarah Winkler	Term Rewriting: Basic Concepts, Tools, and Applications 3/3
Coffee break
13:00 – 14:30	Laura Kovács	First-Order Theorem Proving and Vampire 3/3
Lunch break
15:30 – 17:00	Alexander Razborov	Proof Complexity 3/3

Format: 75 min + 15 min

This schedule uses the Moscow time zone (that is, UTC+3).

The lectures marked in green will be non-virtual, and will take place in Conference Hall (on the 9th floor).

It should be remarked that all non-virtual lectures will be broadcasted via Zoom as well.

As for the virtual lectures, those who wish to participate in non-virtual discussions with other participants and coffee breaks will be welcome in Conference Hall (on the 9th floor) at Steklov Mathematical Institute.